Cast in the right light

Webcam with ring light and microphone

Online meetings are the new normal. If all the participants switch on their cameras and the lighting conditions are right, these meetings really do feel real. The new C-850 Pro webcam from Hama casts everyone in the best light with a switchable LED ring light and ensures good sound thanks to its stereo microphone. In the home office or company office, at work or at home, for gaming chats or streaming, the 2K QHD webcam C-850 Pro from Hama delivers more than just razor-sharp images. It can zoom and, with an LED ring light with three selectable colour temperature levels, ensures even illumination without distracting shadows. Autofocus, exposure compensation, stereo microphone and a remote control that allows you to control the most important functions quickly at the touch of a button complete the features of the C-850 Pro, which can also be mounted on all standard tripods thanks to the 1/4-inch thread. If you want to maintain your privacy, simply place the magnetic camera cover in front of the lens after using the webcam. This prevents people from looking in and also conveniently deactivates the ring light.
