"Stream 900 HD" and "Stream 900 HD Studio"

Streaming microphones from uRage

Sound quality like from a recording studio: the "Stream 900 HD" and "Stream 900 HD Studio" streaming microphones from uRage add professionalism to podcasts, voice-overs, vlogs, music recordings and streaming on Twitch, YouTube and Facebook. Plug & Play via USB makes them ready for immediate use. The USB-C standard ensures a fast connection, and the rapid transfer of data ensures very good sound in HD quality. The microphones are both equipped with a 3.5 mm headphone output with volume control and direct mix control between microphone and PC audio. They also come with a 2.5 m USB cable. For quick status recognition, the microphones have an LED indicator that lights up red when muted and blue when activated. The Stream 900 table microphone literally shines in a high-quality and robust metal housing on an adjustable, stable tripod. The Stream 900 HD Studio can be mounted in three different ways: the Tripod version as an elegant table microphone, the Studio version with the supplied microphone spider for vibration-damped mounting, and the Streamer version with a high-quality and adjustable aluminium microphone boom. Dual-screen pop protection filters out unwanted noise for maximum protection against plosive sounds - for interference-free and professional HD-quality recordings.
